Agencies ask. You confirm.

A tee sheet and agency panel for golf clubs in Antalya and Belek

Today every request is a conversation.

In Belek, agencies ask for tee times by web form, e-mail and phone.

None of the 11 golf clubs in Antalya shows agencies live availability on its website.

Source: the clubs' own websites, each checked on 12 October 2026; number of clubs from GoTürkiye.

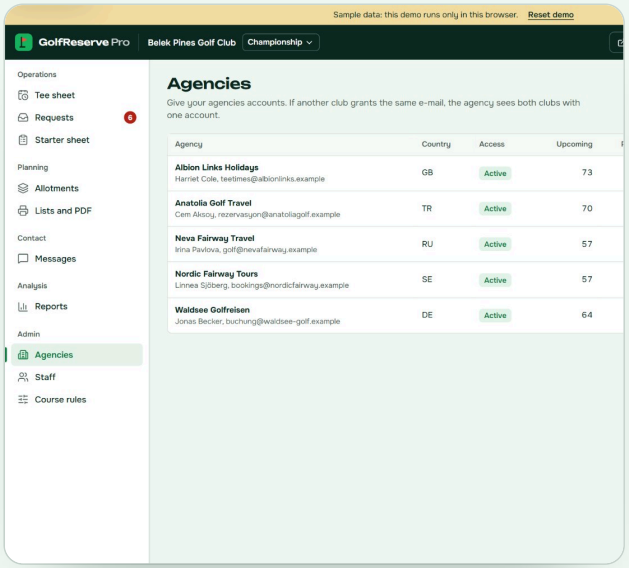

466,000

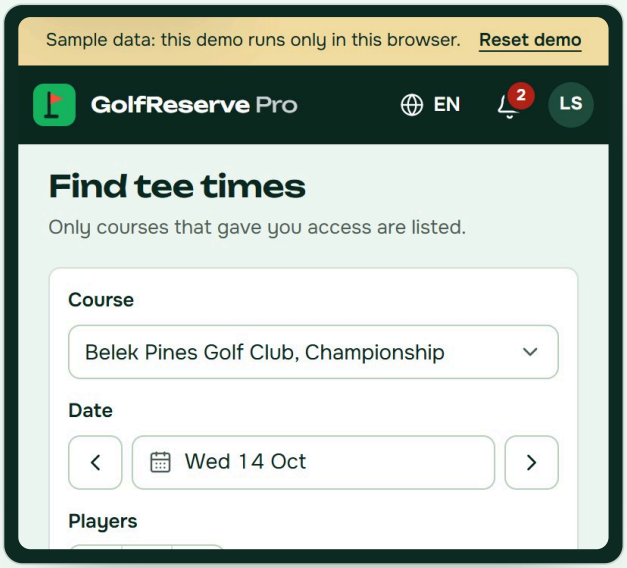

rounds were played in Belek in 2023.

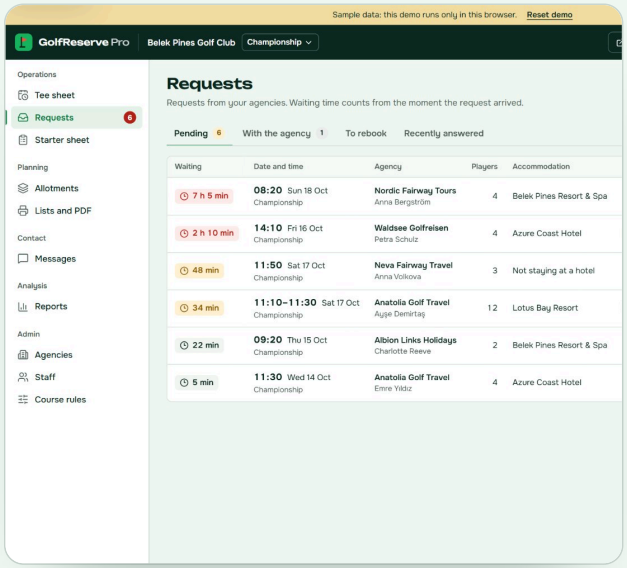

Millennium Golf, Anadolu Agency, 5 September 2024

Phone and WhatsApp	Every request: check, find, call back.
Forms and e-mail	If a change stays in the thread, two groups end up on one time.
Excel	The hotel window and each allotment are checked by hand, every time.

From request to voucher in three steps

The club gives agencies accounts

An agency sees only the courses you give it access to.

The agency requests, or books from its allotment

It sees the free times; inside an allotment the booking confirms at once if you allow it.

The club confirms and the voucher goes out

Confirm, revise, or decline with a reason. The voucher prints in four languages.

The tee sheet runs on your rules.

One club, several courses

Each course has its own interval, first and last tee, and hotel window.

Requests inbox

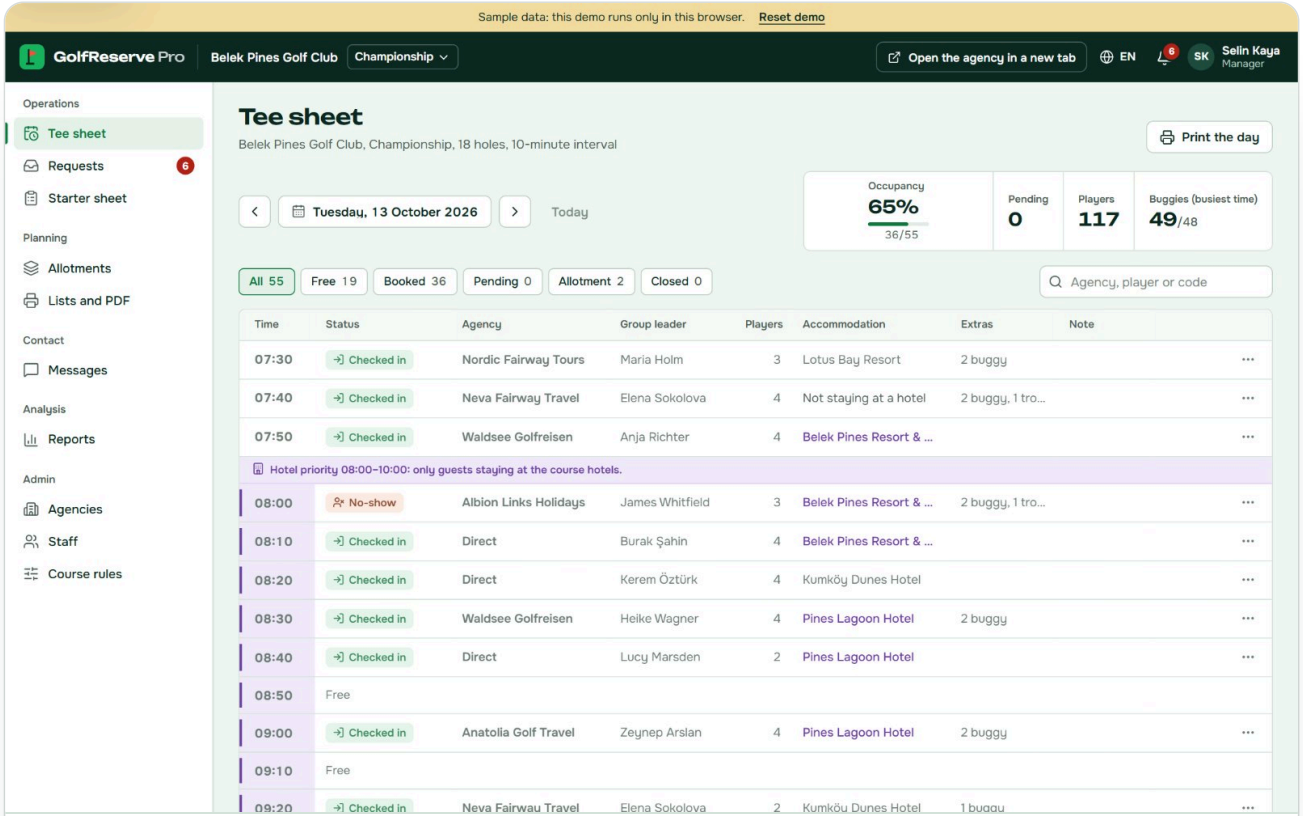

You see how long each request has waited.

Closures and broadcasts

Affected bookings are listed and the agencies are told.

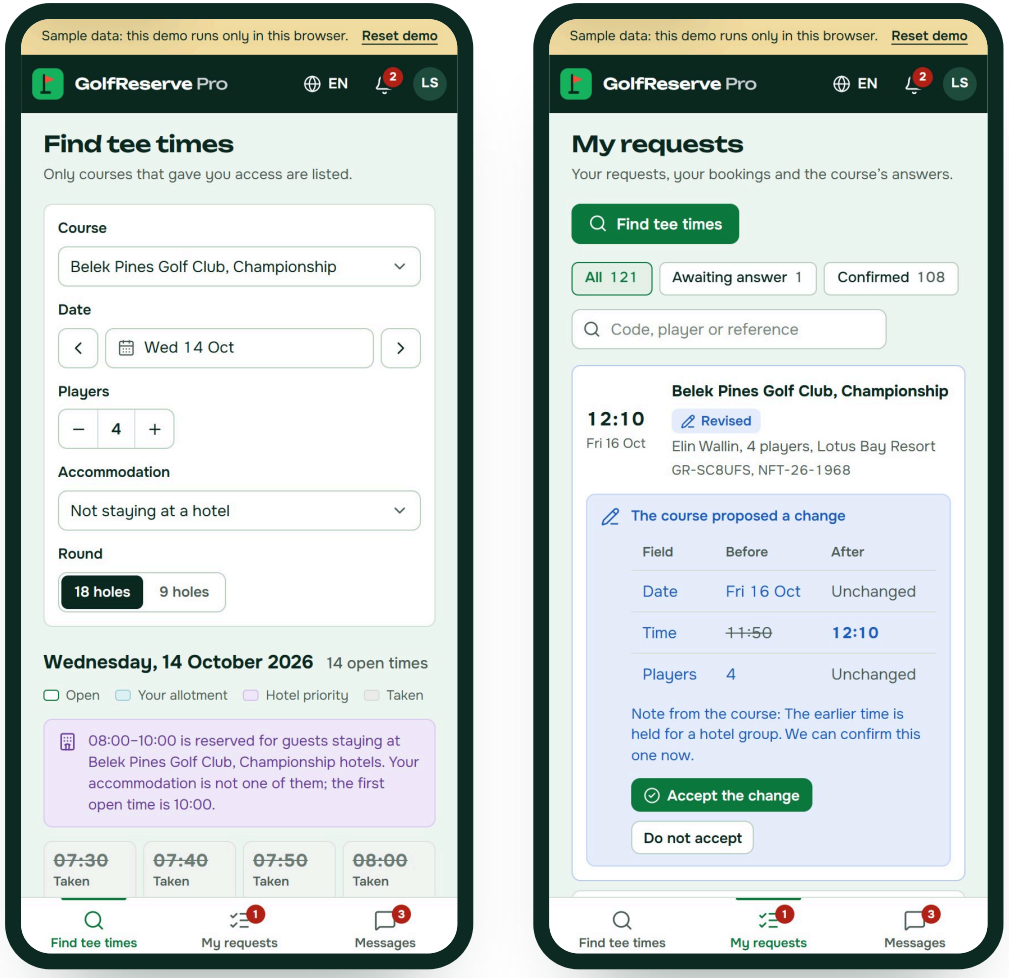

Starter sheet

Check-in, no-show, buggy number.

Club screen: the day's tee sheet. The purple band is the hotel window.

Agencies book from their phones.

Free

Agency accounts are free.

Locked times, with the reason

If the guest is not at the club's hotel, the window times show as locked.

The change, side by side

If the club revises a time, the agency sees the old and new values.

Four languages

Turkish, English, German, Russian.

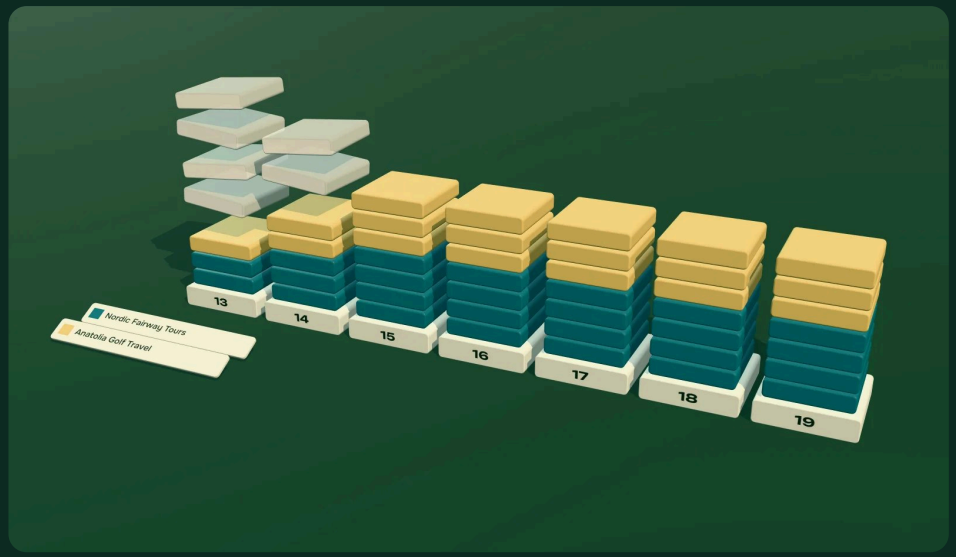

Agency screens on a phone: find tee times and my requests.

The first morning times belong to hotel guests.

Hotel priority, in tiers

The club's own hotel, partner hotels, outside guests: a window for each tier. The default is 08:00–10:00.

Allotments

A block per agency: date range, weekdays, time window, number of tee times. Unused times return to general availability a set number of days before.

The global reference: Golfmanager's tour-operator module also reserves protected slots and releases unused ones before tee-off (golfmanager.com, 12 October 2026). Agency and golfer names are samples.

The bookings you already have come in as a file.

Excel | CSV | Word table | PDF

The file

XLSX, XLS, CSV, DOCX or PDF, read in the browser.

Column matching

Date, time, golfers, lead name, agency and hotel are found for you; you can change them.

Row by row checks

Bad dates, times off the interval, duplicates, unknown hotels, over capacity.

Every row is either imported or listed in the error report with its reason. No row is dropped silently.

Occupancy, in numbers.

- Occupancy heatmap: weekday and hour
- Rounds by day, week, month and year
- Share by agency
- Allotment use
- Time to answer a request
- Cancellations and no-shows
- Hotel guests and outside guests
- How far ahead bookings are made

Sample data Club screen: reports. The figures come from the demo's sample bookings.

Every chart also opens as a table and exports to CSV and PDF.

Side by side with global systems

These systems run the whole club. GolfReserve Pro manages agency reservations only and keeps no price or revenue data.

Why 20,000 TRY?

20,000 TRY

a month per club (all its courses included), VAT excluded.
Agency accounts are free. No setup fee.

- ✓ One fixed line item. No commission, no agency fee.
- ✓ It keeps no price or revenue data. Commercial information stays with the club.
- ✓ Built around the Belek rules: hotel window, allotments, extras.
- ✓ Turkish interface and support; agency screens in four languages.

Worked example: if your 18-hole rack rate is 195 EUR, 20,000 TRY (about 362 EUR at the Central Bank of Türkiye selling rate of 12 October 2026) is less than two rounds a month.

Getting started

The first 30 days are free, counted from the day your team starts using it. Setup and import of your existing bookings are on us. For the first three clubs the monthly fee stays fixed for 12 months.

Live demo

Open the demo without signing up and enter your interval and hotel window in the settings.

Rules

Courses, interval, hotel tiers, extras, cancellation cut-off.

Import

Existing bookings come in as a file; you keep the error report.

Agencies

The agencies you work with get accounts.

Live

Requests arrive in the panel and the phone traffic drops.
